

EDITORIAL

Globalization has given rise to several new dimensions in legal education. There are immense challenges in the current legal education in India. Hence, it is necessary to keep in pace with the growing trends, thus incorporating ADR mechanisms into the curricula is indispensable.

The purpose of embracing ADR mechanisms is to overcome the traditional mindsets shifting from legal litigation to the modern speedy process of dispute resolution.

The CMR School of Legal Studies is progressing forward to reach the global standards in imparting legal education from different dimensions. We have embraced traditional knowledge with the latest advancements in technology.

The objective to integrate ADR mechanisms is to raise public awareness about the benefits of arbitration in the emergence of multi fold legal complications.

The current issue of the online journal discusses a wide range of legal issues from different perspectives and the relevance of adopting ADR techniques for resolving the disputes. The issue contains topics concerning both the international and national issues. We have received over 100 submissions on various topics by academicians, scholars, researchers and students.

The current issue considered 20 submissions which includes not only well reached articles but also case analysis. This issue has made a generous attempt to reflect the growth of international commercial arbitration around the globe.

I thank all the contributors for sharing their ideas on this online platform. My gratitude also goes to the faculty coordinator who has taken special care to successfully bring out this edition.

Finally, I am indebted to the members of the management of CMR University who have always stood by us in all our academic ventures.

Prof (Dr.) T.R. Subramanya
Dean
School of Legal Studies
CMR University
Bengaluru.