NATIONAL SEMINAR

THEME :
MARKING THE POSITION OF
WOMEN IN THE CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM

30th November, 2018

CMR University, School of Legal Studies

About The Seminar

The way Criminal Justice in India is designed and administered today, hardly serves the purpose for which it was set up. Frustrated by recent events, people today, are accusing our Criminal Justice system of not doing enough to deter criminals. They blame the delay and uncertainties involved in its age-old processes, the ridiculously ineffective punishments it imposes on those few who get convicted and in general, the colonial attitude that it represents. It is argued that the system provides wide discretion to the police and the prosecution, rendering the system vulnerable to corruption and manipulation and thereby, endangering basic rights of innocent citizens. The judiciary, although well intentioned, is overburdened and understaffed. The media is unhindered and public, helpless.

Oftentimes the entire system gets so caught up, that the real victim is ignored and finds himself/herself presented with a situation that compels him/her to regret approaching the police and the courts. Often the victim is forced to find extra-legal methods of getting justice. However, worst affected, are those that choose to avoid the system altogether and wither away in silence.

The victim's gender too plays a significant role, in terms of the impact that our generalized procedures differ. There are numerous areas in which day-to-day practices in the criminal justice system ignores behavioural and situational differences between female and male offenders. We need to create a community response to the issues that impact women's lives and increase the perpetrator's risk of incarceration. The women in our society ought to be provided with services that, in both context and content, are comprehensive and relate to the realities of their lives.

At present, both the availability of programming for women offenders and the types of services offered fall short of what is needed. In creating appropriate services that truly consider and respond to gender and cultural factors, we first need to re-examine our current criminal justice policies. We can then work to adjust those policies so that the response to women related offences is the one that emphasizes human needs, specifically those that reflect the realities of women's lives. Rather than focusing solely on punitive sanctions, we can begin to systematically consider the least restrictive alternatives to incarceration. The benefits to society from a reduction in women's imprisonment and from improved re-integration of female offenders into the community are not only apparent but also quite evident. It will benefit not only the women themselves, but also generations to come.

CSP-1- Community Education

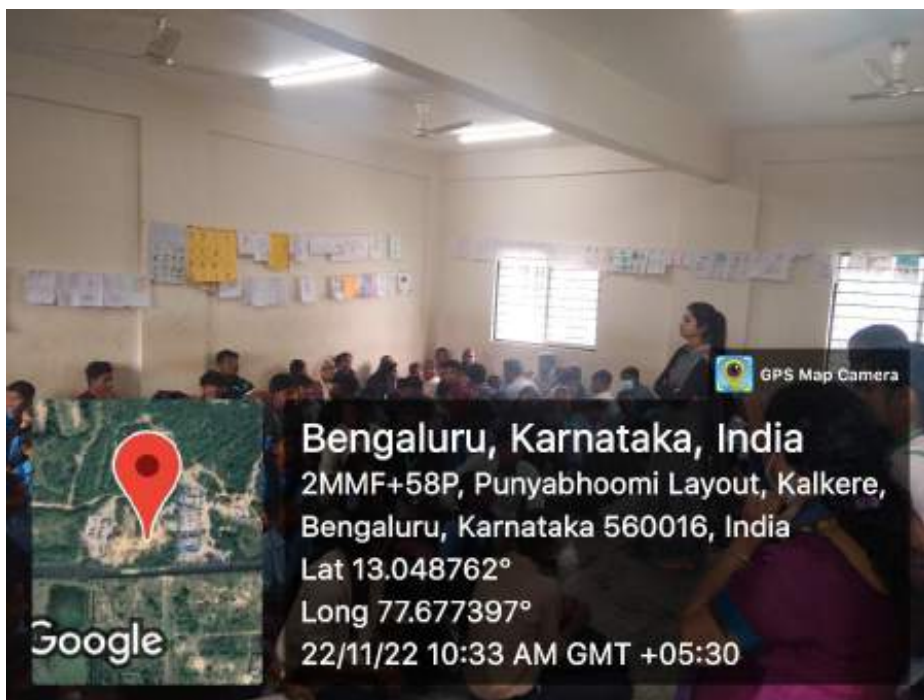

At CMR university, the students are enabled to expand the dimensions of overall development through community service programs as part of their graduate requirement. The 16 hours committed contribution towards society was performed in two phases; Activity 1 and Activity2.

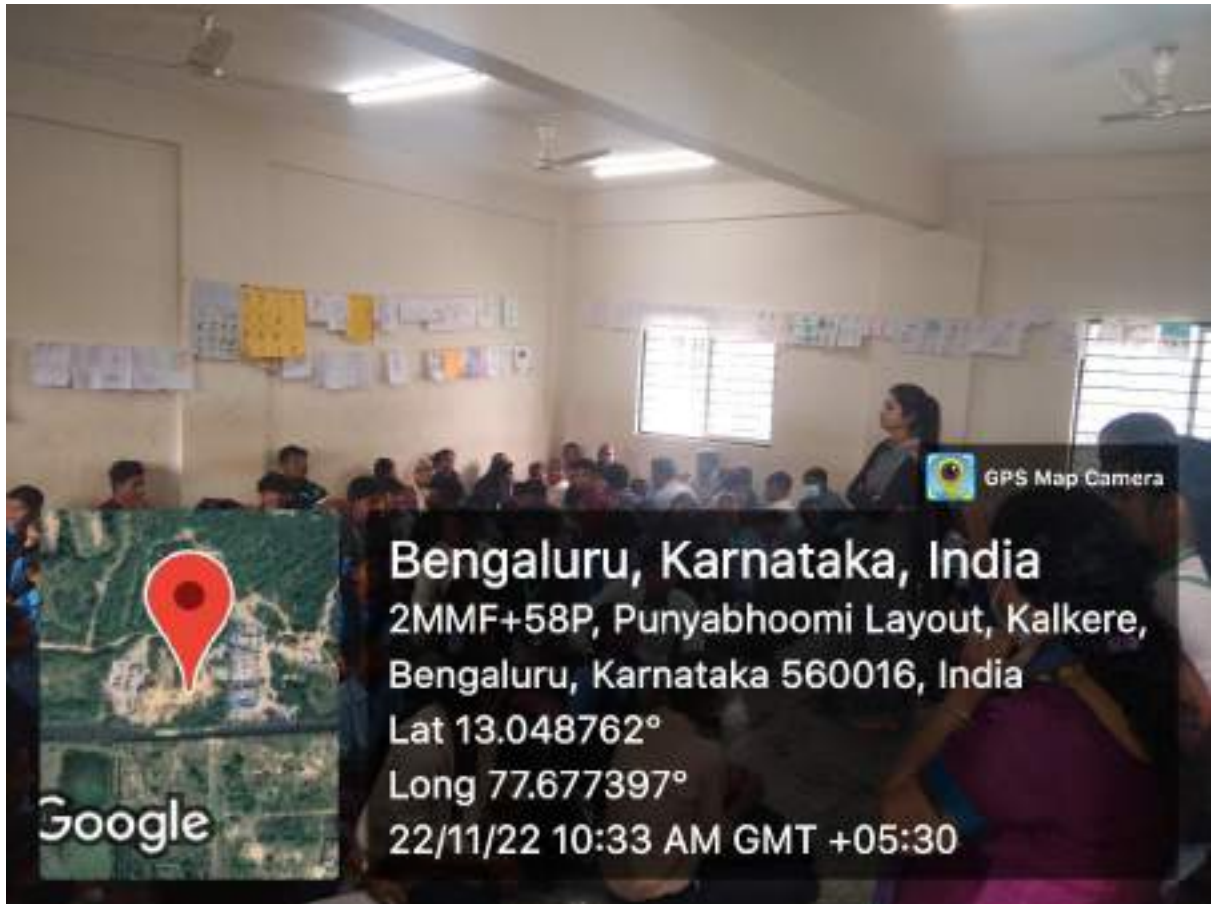

CSP Activity 1

Objective- to serve the community with free of cost education on basic necessities of the current era including, basics of health and hygiene, importance of personal savings, importance of banking services and maintaining the savings with banking institutions.

The activity was performed at Kalkere Government high school, Punyabhoomi layout, Kalkere, Bangalore. The day began at 8.30 Am on 22/11/2022. while our students were divided into groups and allotted with any one class of the school. This helped our community servants better prepare for their students. As the school started, our students joined the government school students to the prayers and to their respective classrooms. The first hour was dedicated to talks on personal hygiene at which the participation of government school kids was appreciable. The next two hours were taken through the general understanding of kids about money, savings and investments. After the lunch, students were theoretically and practically exposed to the process of opening and maintaining a savings account at the post office. As a wind up, we conducted role plays and a common quiz for all students to assess their understanding for the day's lessons.

The change from regular curriculum to something useful for daily life brought the government school kids to happiness and confidence, while CMR university students also felt contented by providing knowledge to people who need it most.

Community Service Report: SEVAK – Society for Establishing Vishwa As Kutumba

Date of Activity: 8th January 2023

Event Coordinator: Dr. Kengal Murthy

Number of Participants: 30 Students

Activity Title: Food Donation at Slums

Organized by: School of Economics and Commerce, CMR University

Venue: Slums in Bangalore

Collaborator: SEVAK (Society for Establishing Vishwa As Kutumba)

Introduction

As part of the Community Service Internship Program organized by the School of Economics and Commerce, CMR University, in collaboration with SEVAK, students participated in a food donation drive on January 8, 2023. The event aimed to address hunger and nutritional challenges in marginalized communities in Bangalore. SEVAK's mission to establish the world as one family aligned with this initiative, as the program was designed to foster empathy and responsibility in students.

Objectives

- To provide food to underprivileged families residing in slums.
- To raise awareness among students about the realities of poverty and the importance of social responsibility.
- To encourage community service as a means of contributing positively to society.

Planning and Execution

Under the guidance of Dr. Kengal Murthy, 30 students from the School of Economics and Commerce took part in the planning and execution of the event. SEVAK provided logistical support, while students worked together to raise funds, purchase food items, and prepare care packages containing essentials such as rice, pulses, vegetables, and snacks. The event began at 10:00 AM with students meeting at the designated slum area.

Students were divided into teams, each responsible for interacting with families, distributing food, and documenting the process to ensure efficient allocation. The activity not only provided tangible support but also created an opportunity for students to engage directly with the community members, listen to their stories, and understand their struggles.

Impact

The food donation drive positively impacted over 100 families, providing them with essential nourishment for several days. For students, the experience was transformative as it exposed them to the harsh realities faced by the urban poor. Many students reflected on how the experience increased their awareness of social issues and motivated them to participate in similar activities in the future.

Reflections from Students

Several students shared their thoughts on the experience:

- "It was eye-opening to see the conditions in which people live. Donating food was a small step, but it made a difference, and we could see the gratitude in their eyes."
- "This activity taught me the importance of giving back to the community and reminded me how fortunate we are."

Once the events are created, the field units should widely publicise through local communication platforms.
- iv) All these created events will be available on a map which citizens can view and choose the event they want to join by going through the options that will be available on the portal.
- v) On 1st Oct, the organizing field unit must ensure that actual cleaning activity takes place at 10 am with the volunteers contributing at least one hour of shramdaan resulting in visible cleanliness.

CSP Activity 2- Tree Plantation (29th November 2022)

Objectives - To understand the importance of keeping the environment sustainable by not just planting valuable saplings but also ensuring they are well maintained for the coming years.

The activity was performed by joining hands with E-Cure (founded in 2011, an independent not-for-profit organization that aims to protect and conserve the environment). The day began with talks of brainstorming at current generation issues for the environment and finding out sustainable solutions for those issues. My Choices foundation (works to break the cycle of violence, abuse, and exploitation suffered by women, children, and families across vulnerable communities in India) raised the voice for alarming situation of human trafficking and called for CMR university students to ensure they become aware of their roles and responsibilities in dealing with the alarming indices of human trafficking. The next two hours were dedicated to the importance of the saplings to be planted and what are the optimum conditions for them to grow into valuable trees in some years.

The students dedicated themselves towards cleaning the weeds around the place and digging the soil and planting the saplings beautifully.

The students of CMR university spent these 8 hours towards nature and sustainable growth of the environment, which became an experience for broad range positive development of them as part of society.

Food Donation to the needy

Continuing the legacy of taking active participation in serving the community around, CMR university students took over their 1st CSP activity on 17/02/23.

The data release in the later part of the year 2022 about the Global Hunger Index highlighted the issue of food scarcity in our community. This issue is also the root cause of several other issues prevailing in our community today, for example, illiteracy and theft etc. Taking a move about this pressing issue, the students of B. Com general at CMR university decided to cook healthy food and distribute the same to needy people in the community. They had identified areas like slums of the city to do this service. After deciding over a healthy meal to serve, the students purchased the healthy staples and vegetables by themselves and either collectively or individually cooked the same with their own hands. The students ensured that the hygiene is maintained for the food cooked and later packed them hygienically. The three key features they added to the food to be served, hence, was health, hygiene and humbleness with which they approached different needy people in Bangalore city and gave away the food packets to them. The activity was performed by our students in different places where they took turns section wise.

Even a small contribution was enough to bring a smile on many faces during this activity.

World Earth Day - Clean Up Drive

Continuing the legacy of taking active participation in serving the community around, CMR university students took over their 2st CSP activity on 22/04/23. Improving the health and safety of the public is one of our primary missions of the CSP clean up drive event.

This project not only addresses the critical issue of clothing insecurity but also fosters a sense of unity and empathy within the community.

Objectives:

- Clothing Redistribution: Collect gently used clothing items from affluent community members and distribute them to individuals and families facing economic challenges.
- Raise Awareness: Create awareness about the importance of clothing donations and the impact it can have on the lives of less fortunate community members.
- Sustainability: Create awareness on sustainability.

SOEC, Community Service Programme-2023 & Clothes for compassion: Bridging the gap:

The clothes distribution activity was a resounding success. We distributed essential clothing items to over 200 needy families in our surrounding the college premises.

Volunteers collected, sorted, packed, and distributed clothing, ensuring a seamless process.

Recipients expressed gratitude for the warm clothing during winter. The event fostered a sense of community and solidarity. Thanks to generous donations, we were able to meet the diverse clothing needs of all age groups. Overall, the activity had a positive impact, providing comfort and relief to those in need. We also gave them a speech on dengue awareness, we raised dengue awareness by informing them the causes of dengue and the measures to prevent this disease from happening.

Lalbagh Botanical garden - Clean up drive

By LLB 2022-2025 BATCH STUDENTS, SOLS CMR UNIVERSITY.

Students of CMR School of legal studies have taken part in a clean up drive on 22nd April 2023. It was conducted by Bhumi, a non governmental organization working in segments like education, civic volunteering and leadership development.

The event was organized in the view of Earth day, which has the theme “invest in our planet”. Which says that not only the investment of money and resources but also the manpower and time of the people should be invested to make earth a better place than now. As the environment is a concern in each part of life one has to look at aspects of cleaning, improvement of air, water and soil.

Learning never stops and can learn from every moment of life. While participating in the drive it was discussed that 5R principles of handling waste is such important viz a viz Refuse, Reduce, Reuse, Recover, Recycle.

As a part of community service program students involvement has made a remarkable change in the clean up drive and has achieved the desired results. Students have learned about the source of the issue which needs to be addressed and how to connect with society. A lot more initiatives like this will bring up better engagement into the public and improve the design thinking skills of a student.

LL.B 2022-25

REPORT ON OUR COMMUNITY SERVICE PROGRAM

PROUD TO BE A DRIVER

Why - the rally?

Bengaluru is one of the fastest growing metropolitan cities not only in India but also across the globe. The population here is not only the natives but also multinationals and multi linguists. Wide range of people from street vendors to big shots need to use the common public spaces for their livelihood. Though education and awareness about road traffic and its management is spreading, we ourselves have created a vicious situation that cannot be controlled unless we clear it ourselves by reverse engineering our thinking about utilising common spaces such as roads.

What's the solution?

There is a saying "As you sow so as you Reap", this gives a solution with specificity. What we give to society will be reverted back to us and our future generation. Thus the students going to live in this world, who like to see it more beautiful than now, took the initiative to declutter and make way for ourselves. As law students it's our duty to be informed about the legalities and give to the people. This is what is already said as "Do your Duties first and then Expect the Rights".

How? - The Action day

On 20th May 2023 (Saturday), the first year LLB students of CMRU School of legal studies in association with Bengaluru Traffic Police conducted an awareness rally named as "PROUD TO BE A DRIVER" in Banaswadi, Bengaluru. The theme of the rally is Change starts within. In which awareness about the Motor vehicle Act 2019 and its expectation along with punishments, penalties were given to the vehicle users in pamphlets.
